

THE EPISCOPAL TRACK MEET

A Large Entry List is Expected for the Annual Event.

TRACK AND FIELD EVENTS

Picked Men for An Interesting Dual Championship Relay Race.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EPISCOPAL HIGH SCHOOL, ALEXANDRIA, VA., April 21.—As the time for the track meet at the Episcopal High School approaches, it becomes more and more apparent that it will prove even more successful than it was last year. Entry blanks have now been sent out to over fifty schools of the States of Virginia and Maryland and the District of Columbia, and the results have proved highly gratifying. At the time of writing acceptances have been received from thirty-six schools, and it is expected that as many as 250 contestants will be entered before the lists are closed on April 27th.

The programme of the meet as announced will include both track and field events, divided into three classes according to the age of the contestants, as follows: First class, open to all; second class, open to boys seventeen years and younger; third class, to boys younger than fifteen. In all classes, the dashes, 100 and 220 yards, will be run; in the first and third classes, the quarter mile and, in the first and second, the low hurdles, the broad jump and the pole vault. In the first class alone are placed the mile and half-mile runs, the high hurdles, the high jump and shot put, making a total of twenty events in all.

The event of the day is to be the dual relay race for the championship of Virginia, between Woodberry Forest and the Episcopal High School, in which the picked men only from both schools will compete. Indications seem to point to a very close and interesting race, and at the present time the chances seem somewhat in Woodberry's favor, owing to the excellent record of their crack man, Hardy. The trophies for this race will be unusually handsome, and will be presented to the successful team by an alumnus of the Episcopal High School.

Apart from this relay race between these two prominent Virginia schools, several relay races are being arranged between the remaining schools of Virginia, Maryland and Washington. As in the case of the regular events, there will be a division into three classes, with the addition of a middle class, on the same lines as indicated. The first two divisions will be run off by two divisions, the second being composed of teams a little slower than those in the first, and yet faster than the second class teams. The first divisions of the first class will probably be selected from the following schools: Central High School, Army and Navy, Preparatory Schools, Boys' Latin School, Western High School, Georgetown Preparatory School and Technical High School, from among which not less than three nor more than five teams will run in the same race. This is in line with the policy of the management to allow no more than five schools to compete in a relay race, and not to hold it for less than three, save in the case of the Virginia championship race. In the second division of the first class it is likely that only one or two teams will be entered. Relay races will also be organized, subject to the above rule from the second and third classes, provided a sufficient number of teams be entered. The relay race for the third class will be only 220 yards per lap, instead of 440 yards, as for the first and second.

An unusual and interesting event will be the middle relay race (220 yards to the lap) between boys under fourteen, from the Milton Academy and other teams of the same age. If as many as three enter, Berney, winner of the famous sprinter, holder of the world's record for the 100-yard dash and the 220, expects to bring over with him for competition in this race a team of young future champions in whom he is much interested.

Extensive work is now going on at the Episcopal High School campus in leveling and grading the track and in general preparation for the meet by the Mr. Philip T. White, Yale; Mr. William track will probably prove excellent, as it is considered one of the best clay tracks in the State, and everything is being done to put it into the best of condition. In a way, the hardness of this clay track will prove a handicap for the home team, for a clay track, though very fast for a race, is too hard for satisfactory training.

The meet is being looked forward to with great interest, and arrangements are being made by the school to handle a large crowd. From the entries it may be said that as many as 250 contestants will be present to put up a spirited contest in the various events, for the interest and amusement of the thousands and more people who are expected to view the meet, if the weather prove to be bright.

Following is the list of officials of the track meet:
Referee—Dr. Charles E. Hammett, Town Institute.
Judges—Mr. R. E. Lee, Jr., Virginia Legislature; Dr. S. Logan Owens, Georgetown; Mr. W. H. Foley, Mr. W. G. Stuart, Dr. William A. Lambeth, University of Virginia; Dr. George W. Orton, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. J. A. Kelly, Georgetown; Mr. W. J. Bowie, Mr. Sam Steinmetz, Mr. W. H. Randolph, principal Emerson Institute; Mr. Philip T. White, Yale; Mr. William O. Old, formerly of University of Virginia; Mr. W. C. Thacker.

OARSMEN PREPARING FOR BUSY SEASON THIS YEAR

Octopede and Centipede Events Promise to Be Popular in Big Regattas—Plans Being Made by Various Clubs.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Oarsmen are preparing for a busy season. Almost every club about New York will own at least one octopede and one centipede before the season is well under way. All that is necessary to convert the eight-oared into sixteen is to take off the alternate outriggers and substitute the shorter double blades.

Having recognized the popularity of this style of racing, the Metropolitan, Union, Harlem and Nassau clubs have already secured craft of this kind, and the officers of the Harlem Regatta Association have provided for octopede and centipede events in their coming regatta.

Down along the Long Island shore a lone oarsman, wearing only a light rowing shirt, with arms and legs bared to cold blasts that sweep over Flushing Bay, has been at work daily for weeks past. The man is Fred Shepherd, of the Seavanhaka Rowing Club. A newcomer in senior ranks last year, he tore premier honors away from Constance Titus, of the Nonpareil Club; Fred Fuessel, of the Harlem, and Frank Vescey, of the Bohemian, and proved himself a class with Frank Greer, the national champion. This year Shepherd intends to go after Greer's title. He has youth in his favor, and is possessed of an indomitable will, that will be needed during the first and second.

An unusual and interesting event will be the middle relay race (220 yards to the lap) between boys under fourteen, from the Milton Academy and other teams of the same age. PROPER WILL TRY FOR BIG BROOKLYN

Jennings Candidate for Handicap in Great Form—Some Horse Talk.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Jennings candidate in the Brooklyn Handicap will be Proper, the star performer of the second-division on Eastern tracks last season. Proper is the cleverest Prestonpans horse that ever raced in America, and he is in tiptop condition this year. He did not get too much of it in California last winter, and he had no chance to race himself stale. While Proper failed to win the Burns Handicap, Mr. Jennings was not dissatisfied with the showing he made on the Pacific slope.

The handicapper has a high opinion of the big bay and in his San Francisco races he has to shoulder his weight. In his preparation for the Brooklyn handicap, Proper may get a few days' rest. He is now in the hands of Belmont Park, but Mr. Jennings is not sure he will race the Prestonpans horse before the Brooklyn meeting. He is not absolutely in need of a hardening race. He is not like an Eastern horse that has been all winter under cover.

Even if James R. Keene adheres to his plan of keeping Sysonby away from the races until Suburban day, Mr. Jennings believed that this season's Brooklyn will be a vastly better event from the point of view of sport than a majority of predecessors.

Dainty in Good Form.
Dainty, the Golden Garter mare, Mr. Jennings sent to the Hynes' Connecticut barn last summer, to the end that the vendor of wooden nutmegs might restore her as he restored Proper the year before last. In his splendid condition this spring.

Times delivered Dainty to Jennings a few days ago. She weighs 150 pounds more than she did when Hynes took her, and her legs appear to be as clean as they were the day of her birth. When Dainty will be ready to race Jennings "I cannot say just now. He will not hurry her. He considers Dainty about the best horse Golden Garter ever sent to the American races, and he is naturally ambitious to restore her to the splendid form she showed in the autumn of 1904, when she was all but invincible among Eastern handicap runners.

Dainty is getting along in years, but Jennings has been singularly successful with old horses, and it is not improbable that he will win many good races with this fast mare. Just now, he thinks it likely Dainty will be ready at Sheepshead Bay for a first-class effort. But he does not think she will be equal to the task of winning such races as this year's Suburban and Brighton promises to be.

The Dainty will try for any of the great summer handicaps is therefore improbable. Experience has taught that a shifty handicap horse who can be saved for the rich autumnal specials, races like the $50,000 Twin City at Sheepshead Bay, the Combs, the Oriental and the First Special, stands a good chance to win a bunch of money.

Chances Good.
As a general proposition, the greater handicap horses run themselves to death before the first of September in the Brooklyn, the Suburban, the Brighton, the Commonwealth and the Saratoga, and cannot heat a good handicap animal in the fall.
The Pacific Slope 3-year-olds of last winter were in Mr. Jennings' opinion a very ordinary lot, Masterston and Good Luck did land the Derbies at Ascot Park and Oakland, he thinks, because they improved under the invigorating influence of the trans-Sierra climate. They simply did not meet opposition of the first class.

He has not the least fear that either of them will come back next winter and make him retract as Mr. Leggo did last winter. They are not Crescendos and Articulates and Advance Guards and Oxfords and Dr. Leggos. They will have their work cut out to hold their own with ordinary Eastern selling placers this season.

Mr. Jennings is of the opinion that his little 3-year-old, Confederate, could concede weight in both Masterston and Good Luck and beat them from one jump to the Rocky Mountains. Confederate did not fiddle them in the Derbies because he burst a foot early in the winter campaign and had to be put by.

Mr. Jennings does not think any too highly of Confederate either. The Bridgewater horse appears to be all right now, however, and his owner predicts that he will win a race or two before the middle of May. Confederate develops high speed in a race of seven-eighths or one mile, but Mr. Jennings is of the opinion that he was out for distance running.

Fulcher Acquired.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
AMHERST, VA., April 21.—The jury reported early this morning in the Fulcher case a verdict of not guilty. The verdict was not a surprise to those who had attended the trial. Though great dissatisfaction is being expressed at it by many of the people of the county, who say that Fulcher should have been punished.

One of the jurors remarked that he was being jeered at on the streets. The jury did not have much difficulty in reaching the decision, and would have reported last night but for the lateness of the hour.

SCATTER GUN ARTISTS BRAVE BAD WEATHER

Faithful Few Gather at Traps and Break Mud Pies With a Vengeance.

The windy, inclement weather had a tendency to cut down the attendance at the practice shoot of the Richmond Gun Club yesterday afternoon, yet fourteen of the "scatter" gun artists braved the traps.

A stiff gale played havoc with the scores, and a target had to be "snapped" just as seen above the traps as it was not found by the shooter. The shower broke up the 100-bird race, and most shooters had to content with a string of fifty targets. Janowski and Anderson tied for high gun with 41 out of fifty. MacLellan was second, with one bird less. Mr. Fischer's shooting was the cynosure of all present. He is fast getting in line to go fast company. Eighty per cent. he swayed.

Announcement will be made soon of a trophy that has been promised to the shooters of Richmond, to be known as the championship trophy. As soon as received it will be contested for in open competition.

Mr. T. H. Keller, of the Peters Cartridge Company, was calling on the trade yesterday.
Regular practice shoots every Thursday and Saturday.

The scores follow:

Shot At.	Broke.
MacLellan	41
Janowski	41
Anderson	41
George Robinson	40
Fischer	40
H. Hecker	40
R. H. Johnson	40
C. Taylor	39
"Clay"	38
"Harry"	35
Col.	28
Walsh	25

There will be a meeting of the executive at 8:15 P. M. on Tuesday, the 24th instant, in The Times-Dispatch office, 916 E. Main, to arrange the final details for the season. A full attendance is necessary.

LAST MEET OF DEEP RUN HOUNDS

Season Closed Yesterday When the Riverside Hunt Club Rode With Richmonders

DR. BRYAN'S HUNTER FELL

Large and Brilliant Field Followed Hounds—Reception at Club House.

The cry of the hound and the sound of the horn has been heard for the last time this season in the Deep Run hunting country, for on yesterday the final meet took place at the Reservoir.

Four o'clock was the time set for the fixture, but it was fifteen minutes after the hour when hounds were uncoupled, the delay being occasioned by the absence of Mr. H. C. Beattie, the master, who at the last minute, sent word that he had fallen a victim to the mumps.

In his absence Mr. E. B. Snyder hunted hounds, with Mr. Ormond Young and Dr. Robert C. Bryan as whips, in addition to Hall, the new kennel man. The occasion was of especial interest as Mr. Duncan Wright, M. F. H. of Riverside Hunt Club, of Petersburg, with seven members of that hunt were the guests of Deep Run for the afternoon.

Those Who Rode.
Those who rode to hounds were Mr. E. B. Snyder, M. F. H., on Deep Run; Mr. J. R. J. Anderson, Whitegarde; Mr. Ormond Young, on Red Hussar; Mr. Cordon Hobson, on Brown Jug; Miss Gertrude Skelton, on Peggy; Mrs. Egbert Leigh, on Rapidan; Mr. Egbert Leigh, on Clatter; Mr. Duncan Wright, M. F. H. of Riverside, on Arthur Charles; Mr. J. P. W. Budge, of Riverside, on Golden; Mr. Roano Ruffin, of Riverside, on Mary Ann; Mr. M. C. Jackson, of Riverside, on King Dodo; Mr. Leroy Roper, of Riverside, on Set Back; Mr. Lemroy Jones, of Riverside, on Lady Modoc.

Mr. R. B. Percival, of Riverside, on Lady Joke.
Dr. Wallace Gill, of Riverside, on "Q." Colonel A. S. Buford, Jr., on Janice. Mr. Robert Tritton, on South Anna. Dr. R. C. Bryan on Benedict. Mr. St. Geo. Bryan on Bonvollo. Mr. Archer Anderson on Chorus Girl. Mr. Edward Harris on Zilla. Mr. H. C. Beattie, Jr., on White Squal. Dr. J. A. White on Game Cock. Mr. John Thomas Anderson on Bohemian Joe. Mr. William Rueger on Showman. Mr. Hal Buchanan on an Indian Joe.

Party to Meet.
At the meet a large party in motor cars and buggies watched the hunt as it went towards the field back of "Idle Horn," where they found and went away. In "Sunnyside" occurred the only accident of the afternoon, when Dr. Robert C. Bryan, riding "Benedict," was crowded at a fence and overturned. His hunter, a high fence strung with wire. The horse, jumping nearly from a stand, hit the top plank and turned over into the next field. Fortunately the pair fell in ploughed ground and neither was injured.

Hounds Ran Well.
Hounds ran straight and fast across "Sunnyside," "Skeltons," the Williams and Pembroke, to a check at the Cary Street Road.

After being trotted forward, hounds found and went away through Patterson's and Beattie's, and led the field over four well-set jumps in "Clantly" to the top of the hill. The hunt was a high fence strung with wire. The horse, jumping nearly from a stand, hit the top plank and turned over into the next field. Fortunately the pair fell in ploughed ground and neither was injured.

Reception at Club.
The regular Saturday afternoon reception was held after the hunt. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. George Cole Scott, Mr. and Mrs. George Seay, Mr. Jennifer, Mr. Blanchard Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Christian, Mr. Andrew D. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. Riley, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Hotchkiss, Mrs. Pemberton, Mrs. Morgan, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Carter, Mr. P. H. Mayo, Mr. John R. Cary, Captain Joseph E. Willard, Miss Willard, Miss Elizabeth Willard, Miss Virginia Christian, Miss Margaret Miller, Mr. E. R. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Egbert G. Leigh, Miss Gertrude Skelton, Miss Elsu Lindsay, Mr. Erskine Buford and the guests of the afternoon—the members of the Riverside Hunt.

Last night the veterans were entertained at dinner at the Westmoreland Club by members of Deep Run.

OLD-TIME RIVALS CROSS BAT'S HERE

University of Virginia and Carolina on Richmond Diamond To-morrow Afternoon.

The man who calls the balls and strikes in the game between Virginia and Carolina here on Monday afternoon will be no other than Mr. Hoffman, who is to be one of the three bases in the Virginia State League this year.

Richmonders will have an opportunity to judge the umpire's style and to meet him personally. For the past ten days he has been at Charlottesville and has umpired games there with perfect satisfaction.

Between the "Varsity nine and the Carolina aggregation there is, has been, and will be, an intense spirit of rivalry. Whether on the gridiron or the diamond, the gladiators have tussled with all their strength for victory. Honors are about even, for both States have won victories and each State has known defeat.

Therefore, the game here to-morrow will be one worth going a long way to witness. The Virginia boys will arrive here to-morrow and will be quartered at Murphy's Hotel.

HER STORY ASTOUNDING

Wife of Singer Sewing Machine Company Manager, Robert C. Traylor.

HER DENTIST REFUSED TO DRAW HER TEETH

Well-Known Lady Who Praises Charles Lincoln Smith, Tells Her Remarkable Experience. Her Life Full of Suffering for More Than 25 Years.

It is an almost incredible story that Robert C. Traylor tells of the astounding achievement performed by Charles Lincoln Smith.

There are few men so widely known in the business and social life of Richmond as the manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Company's offices here. His business brings him in intimate touch with the homes of the city. His name is a household word. Mr. Traylor's residence is at 812 West Main Street.

The case of Mrs. Traylor is a remarkable one in many respects. She had been suffering for 25 years or more with her eyesight when she sought the advice of the oculist.

"My wife was threatened with the loss of the sight of her left eye," said Mr. Traylor, discussing the case. "We feared she was going blind. She suffered terrible pains. What she endured only herself can tell. I would find her when I went home from my office in the evening with her temples washed in handkerchiefs and her condition indescribably pathetic. So great was the agony she endured that she would frequently say it was unbearable. She almost preferred death to the living torture."

"I must confess that I had no great faith in Charles Lincoln Smith when my wife placed herself under his care. She had tried so many oculists and so many cures that I had begun to believe her case was hopeless.

"In two weeks the change she underwent was simply marvelous. I find her smiling and happy when I reach home in the evening. She complains no longer of the pains that once made her life miserable. And, most wonderful of all, the left eye which we thought would be cured unless in a short time has been restored by Charles Lincoln Smith's method and prescription glasses so completely that she is actually convinced that she has better sight in that eye than ever before. I cannot too strongly endorse the clever expert who has effected such remarkable results in the case of my wife."

Mrs. Traylor is overjoyed with the recovery of her failing eyesight. She says: "I suffered indescribable pains in the temples, neck and head for thirty-five years. My eyes were weak, watery and frequently inflamed. When I went out to drive in windy weather the outing was an ordeal rather than a pleasure. The wind in my eyes actually caused me to water distressingly. In the evenings I would suffer excruciating pains, which I attributed first to neuralgia, then to my teeth."

"Darting, shooting, racking pains over the eyes, in the temples and in the back of the neck made my life a torture. I was sure that I was going blind in my left eye, for my sight failed in that eye until at times it was almost useless to me.

"Of course, I tried every possible means to obtain relief. I consulted oculists and used their glasses, but got no benefit. I finally concluded to consult with my dentist. I went to my dentist, Dr. Willis, two years ago, and told him I wanted all of my teeth extracted. I waited in great pain. He advised me against having the teeth extracted. I insisted, and he placed me in the operating chair and gave me chloroform. When I revived I found that he had not extracted a single tooth."

"I have examined your teeth, Mrs. Traylor, he said, 'and I find them sound and good. It would be folly to draw even one of them. I can assure you that if you do not have your teeth caused you to suffer. The trouble is due to some other cause.'"

"I still insisted that the teeth should be drawn, but he refused to perform the operation. I surely had a narrow escape, for I feel that had I not been in good luck, I should have lost my eyesight."

"I have been using Charles Lincoln Smith's method, and prescription glasses just two weeks. I never enjoyed better eyesight than I now have, and my headaches have disappeared. I feel that Charles Lincoln Smith has performed a marvel in restoring my eyesight and relieving me of pains that made my life a burden for so many years."

residence 514 West Marshall, is greatly elated with the success of Charles Lincoln Smith's method and prescription glasses in his wife's case. Mrs. Hite's case is best described in her own words. She says: For the past three years I have suffered with headaches and blurring and smarting of my eyes. About three months ago it began to get worse. I would have sick headaches half the time and almost every night would have to retire very early, as I could not stand the eyestrain from artificial light. These conditions kept getting worse and worse, until my life was just a misery. The doctors gave me medicine, but it did me no good. About a month ago my husband became worried about it and took me before Charles Lincoln Smith, and I am afraid glad he did so. Why, since I have had his method of prescription glasses my headaches have disappeared and my sight is perfect. His skill has certainly been a blessing to me.

While here Manager Camp will try to make arrangements for the pennant fight here every year. Richmond is the last drawing city, and the crowd to witness the game Monday will fill the grandstand and bleachers.

Virginia has won seven out of nine games played, and will tackle Carolina with confidence of victory.

Charles Lincoln Smith, the well known New York oculist, is at 116 and 118 East Main Street, absolutely free this week. Eighth Street entrance. Take elevator.
